COL. WAILES BRINGS SUIT IN U. S. COURT

Asks For Order Restraining Trustees of I. I. Fund
From Selling Any More State Lands.

(From The Miami Metropolis.)

The Wailes claim has come up again. This time it is in the form of a bill filed in the United States court at Pensacola seeking to restrain the Trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund from selling more of the State lands until this claim is satisfied. The petitioner also asks the court to order an accounting of all lands previously sold. This action is prayed for because the petitioner avers that if the State lands are disposed of before his claim is satisfied there will be no resources left with which to pay him.

Claims of such long standing as the Wailes claim come to be regarded by the public as deserving of little or no consideration, without giving the subject the investigation which it deserves, and this matter affords a good example of how such things may be dismissed from the public conscience with summary impatience. It is entirely probable that many who denounce Col. Wailes as an imposter, an ingrate, a fugitive from justice, and indulge the use of other such terms in characterizing him and his claim, have never looked with any care into the origin of his contract; nor do they either do not know or refuse to recognize the validity of it and the official recognition and affirmation of it through a long period of years when he was performing the service for which he was to receive certain and specific compensation. It is obviously not now a question as to whether the contract was a wise one or not, or whether Col. Wailes received other compensation than was ample for the work that he undertook and accomplished. The question is simply that he was employed on a contingent basis to accomplish a certain thing that at the time seemed extremely difficult if not impossible of execution. He did the work and turned a large sum of money into the State treasury and when this was done his contract was calmly repudiated by the State through a technical construction which was plainly in violation of the spirit and intent of the agreement. It seemed an extravagant thing to pay one individual the sum of money which he demanded, but if it was so the former Governors of Florida were to be censured for it. It was manifestly not just to go behind the solemn agreement of former executives acting with as much authority as the then present administration. But legislatures have refused to do their duty to a last resort the claimant takes the case into court.

The pleas that are made on behalf of the claimant that he is an old man, bent with years and broken in spirit by the intolerance of the times, is inaudible stuff, and should not be resorted to. It does seem that Florida should be able to collect a Legislature intelligent enough broad enough and brave enough to pass this claim and give Col. Wailes the money to which he is entitled by the letter of the contract.

Whether just or not, whether extravagant or not, the contract was solemnly made by one Governor and reaffirmed by several others, and it is solemnly binding upon the State. The availability of contract is recognized by the constitution. The obligation was incurred and it should be paid, even if it bankrupted the State to do it—and there is no danger of any such dire disaster to befall from its discharge.

We fail to see how Col. Wailes expects to accomplish anything, however, from his recent suit. The State lands have been withdrawn from sale, and there is no immediate probability of more lands being put on the market. The injunction which he seeks is even now practically in force, though a resolution of the board might in a twinkling change this policy. Yet it may be that this litigation will pave the way for legislative action, which of course, Col. Wailes hopes will be taken at the next session.

Loud talking was, however, heard between them over the bitching up of the Consolidated Grocery Company's team which is quartered at the Cook stable and which Richardson came to take out to begin hauling merchandise for the wholesale grocery company.

The negro claims to have inflicted fact that he had in some way got hold of Cook's pistol, ran

William A. Cook Horribly Stabbed By Tampa Negro

TAMPA, Oct. 28.—Yesterday morning before 7 o'clock William A. Cook, a well-known livery stable keeper of this city, was severely stabbed and slashed with a razor or knife by Frank Richardson, a negro driver for the Consolidated Grocery Company, his assailant inflicting wounds of a serious character, which will doubtless mark his victim for life.

The ear was almost severed from the head and his right arm slashed almost the bone from its upper part nearly hand was nearly cut off and other wounds about the upper portion of

Mrs. Van Deman Knows What Makes the Birds Sing

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 28.—When she returned to the ground, "now I know what makes the birds sing."

Lieuts. Lahm and Humphries had so far progressed with their mastery of the Government's aeroplane yesterday that just before the closing of the afternoon work Wilbur Wright stepped to the rear and allowed the two officers to oversee all details in the management of the machine prior to their ascension.

His pupils have progressed so far that Mr. Wright yesterday announced his intention of abandoning them for several days, allowing them to use the aeroplane at their discretion. The flights will continue here as usual.

COTTON KEEPS ON GOING SKYWARD

PRICES ARE AGAIN MAKING NEW HIGH RECORDS.

Sensational Bullish Estimates of Crop and Reports That Planters Are Holding for Higher Prices.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—There was continued excitement in the cotton market yesterday, with prices again making new high records, and most of the active months selling above 14½ cents on sensational bullish estimates of the crop and reports that planters were holding for higher prices. Both Southern and Western bulls were credited with being aggressive buyers at times during the day.

December cotton sold as high as 14.47 and May 14.63 during the afternoon. Realizing caused slight reaction later, but the market closed very steady, and from 3 to 5 points net higher.

Two prominent Southern authorities issued estimates of the crop, one placing it at 10,300,000 and the other at 10,520,000, comparing with last year's commercial crop of about 13,800,000 bales.

sort the claimant takes the case into court.

The pleas that are made on behalf of the claimant that he is an old man, bent with years and broken in spirit by the intolerance of the times, is inaudible stuff, and should not be resorted to. MR. CASH IS RELEASED.

Young Man Brought From Newberry Again Has His Freedom.

C. C. Cash, the young man brought to this city from Newberry on Tuesday in a pitiable condition, mention of which was made in The Sun of Wednesday morning, has been released from custody, his condition being remarkably improved, and is now at a private boarding-house in this city, where he is receiving proper medical attention.

The young man's appearance indicates that he comes of good family, and his manner is extremely sober. It is hoped that his condition will continue to improve, and that he will have entirely recovered in a few days.

In Quincy the young men are organizing a Business League, or Chamber of Commerce, with the intention of boosting the city and looking out for its future welfare, which if operated properly will no doubt prove a wonderful factor in the building up of Quincy.

NEW YORK MAYORALTY FIGHT GETS WARMER

Judge Gaynor, Hearst and Bannard Are Swinging Around Circle at Rapid Rate.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—A drizzling rain fell in New York last night but despite the weather the three mayoralty candidates delivered collectively fifteen speeches. Otto T. Bannard, the Republican nominee, lead with nine curt, business issue addresses in Harlem and the Bronx; William R. Hearst, who is running independently, spoke at Carnegie Hall, once in Harlem and once in the Bronx; and William J. Gaynor, running on the Democratic ticket and backed by Tammany Hall, spoke three times in the heart of Manhattan, including an address to Italian Democrats at Cooper Union. Crowds greeted the speakers everywhere.

The meeting which Hearst addressed at Carnegie Hall was announced as a Democratic mass meeting and the editor, although he made an attack on Tammany, the principal part of his address emphasized that he was for all those a Democrat, but an exponent of independence in politics. Judge Gaynor's remarks last night were largely addressed to foreigners and he consequently dwelt particularly on the "personal liberty" issue, so dear to the continental mind. At Cooper Union one of the speakers was Coroner Acreeff, who outlined the campaign conditions to his countrymen in their native tongue.

The "white slave" charge, as made by a writer in McClure's Magazine, was denounced by the Judge as well as by other speakers, who laid stress upon the charges as they related to the Italian people. The "esclaves" referred to in the article were Italians. In many instances, the writer said, and this declaration was branded by Gaynor and others as an injustice and a lie, while the assemblies cheered in sympathy.

THE GOOD ROADS ADVOCATES ARE BUSY

PREPARING HIGHWAYS FOR ENDURANCE RUN ON NOV. 23.

Large Forces Engaged All Along West Coast Route Removing Stumps and Other Obstructions.

According to reports from E. E. Voyle, manager of the East Florida Telephone Company in this city, the people of South Florida, especially along the West Coast, have reached the highest pitch of enthusiasm along the line of good roads, with the result that the highways along the route mentioned are being worked by voluntary subscription and voluntary labor by those who appear to be unable to make cash donations.

Mr. Voyle has just returned from Brooksville and other points, and during his absence had occasion to traverse some of these roads. "I have never seen so much enthusiasm manifested on good roads since I have been in Florida," he said. "There is nothing but good roads talk and action, with the result that the highways are fast being made passable. Those who do not feel able to financially contribute have taken off their coats, and are hard at work digging out stumps and other obstructions, filling in depressions, and placing pine straw in the ruts, which makes a most desirable road—at least a big improvement over what the people have been accustomed to."

The principal highways being worked between Ocala and Tampa are those selected by the committee appointed to select a route for the endurance race, which will be pulled off on November 23, and which, as stated in The Sun of Thursday, has been selected via Ocala and Gainesville north, returning via the East Coast, Sanford, Orlando and Kissimmee.

The distance between Jacksonville and Tampa, as shown by speedometer registers, is fifty-two miles shorter via Gainesville, Ocala and the West Coast, than via the East Coast.

CHRIS MATHESON TO SPEAK IN ORLANDO

ELOQUENT YOUNG ORATOR WILL DELIVER MEMORIAL ADDRESS.

Invitation Extended by Committee of Lodge No. 1079, B. P. O. E., Has Been Accepted.

The committee from Orlando Lodge No. 1079, B. P. O. E., were wise in extending an invitation to Hon. Christopher Matheson, a member of Gainesville Lodge No. 990, to make the memorial address upon the occasion of the annual memorial exercises of their lodge, which will be held the first Sunday in December, and members of Orlando lodge are jubilant in anticipation of a fine address, as Col. Matheson enjoys a reputation for eloquence in that section of the State, as well as other sections.

Col. Matheson has accepted the invitation and has so notified the committee, and the good people of Orange county's capital city are to be congratulated upon securing his services.

Orlando lodge, like the majority of Elk lodges throughout the entire country, is composed of the cream of citizenship, and a class who will readily appreciate the masterly eloquence of one of their brothers in the fraternity.

Orlando lodge has one of the handsomest and most modern homes in the State, and the memorial service being a public event, will no doubt be well attended.

KINDERGARTEN DEPARTMENT.

New Department of Gainesville High School to Open Monday.

A kindergarten under the control of the Gainesville Graded and High School is being organized and will be conducted in the west room of the primary building.

A charge of $2 per month per scholar will be made to defray the expenses of this department.

Mrs. Martini, who has recently moved to Gainesville from Van Wert, Ohio, will have charge of this department. She is well fitted for the work by nature, education, and experience. She studied at the Cincinnati Kindergarten, taught two years at Lake City, Fla.; four years at the Miami Valley Chautauqua, and several years at Van Wert and other places. There are parties in town who have patronized Mrs. Martini's kindergartens, and speak in the highest praise of her work. She is not engaged in the work because she needs to, but because she enjoys it.

One of Mrs. Martini's Van Wert patrons has the following to say of her work:

"Van Wert, O., Oct. 20, 1909.
To whom It May Concern:

To speak a word regarding the kindergarten work of Mrs. Carrie Martini gives me both pleasure and regret. Pleasure of the great benefit she has been to my daughters, and regret that her absence from Van Wert makes this letter possible. Mrs. Martini has the respect and admiration of our whole community, and the love of all our children. We feel that if, in later years, their lives will bring credit to anyone, a large share of that credit will belong to Mrs. Martini.

The Value of Good Digestion

Is easy to figure if you know what your stomach is worth. Kodol keeps the stomach at par value, by insuring good digestion. Kodol cures Dyspepsia, to special effort by "tonics" "stimulants" doesn't cure anything or accomplish any good. Neither does dieting. Indigestion and the serious ailments which it induces can be averted and corrected only by natural means.

While Kodol is doing this, the stomach is resting—and becoming strong and healthy. A strong and healthy stomach guarantees a sound and active brain.

The man with a sound stomach—a stomach that is doing for the body just what Nature intended it to do—is the man who is always prepared for any emergency. He is "there with the goods."

The man with a sick stomach, is a man sick all over. When the stomach is irritated by undigested food, the blood and heart are directly affected. Then dullness, unnatural sleepiness, sick-headaches, vertigo and fainting spells, and even serious brain trouble develop. Kodol will prevent these.

STUDY OF JAPANESE.

Difficulties of the Spoken and the Written Language.

Army officers who are thinking of taking up the study of Japanese should pause before they attempt the task and ask themselves whether they have a peculiarly strong linguistic aptitude. Even the Japanese find their language very difficult. The Anglo-Saxons who growl about the difficulties of our spelling and favor the simplified system would never live if they had to understand what the subject of the misadventure suffers in the matter of language.

It takes a Japanese, and seven years to learn the essential parts of the alphabet. There are 214 signs which serve the same purpose as initial letters in English dictionaries. Then after you have tracked down some of these 214 signs some part of the character for which you are about to make a search you still have a veritable fortress Africa ahead of you. The pompous first personal pronoun is avoided whenever it is possible in speaking Japanese. If it must be used it is introduced finally, but generally the abstract noun "ourselves" serves in its stead.

For example, a Japanese would say, "I don't drink wine," but "Who don't drink," or, if this is not clear enough, "Selfishness wine don't drink." Reference to your possessions must be deprecatory. Thus if a man wishes to point out his own residence he says, "That miserable house," which, of course, could refer to no other than his own.

"On the other hand" "that beautiful house" would easily identify the house as belonging to someone else. Moreover, any one who wishes to learn Japanese must be prepared to learn two languages, the written and the spoken. The two differ materially from the other that if a Japanese is reading a book or newspaper and wishes to do so aloud it becomes necessary for him to translate the written words into the colloquial. To be able to read any of the higher class Japanese newspapers it is necessary to master at least from 2,000 to 3,000 ideographs—Army and Navy Journal.

A PIONEER AERONAUT

The Brave and Daring Frenchman Pilatre de Rozier.

TRAGIC END OF HIS CAREER.

He Was the First Aeronaut to Lose His Life From a Balloon, and He Was Dashed to Death With a Companion From a Height of 1,700 Feet.

Jean Francois Pilatre de Rozier, who was born at Metz in 1756 and who was killed, a martyr to his zeal, by a fall from his balloon at Boulogne, France, June 15, 1785, was the first aeronaut to lose his life in the dangerous work of mastering the air.

Pilatre de Rozier, who had made ascents in the Montgolfier balloon, determined to solve the question of balloons as mediums for carrying passengers and could think and dream of nothing but how he could fashion a machine that would carry him on an aerial voyage. When his balloon was finished he made some twenty-three ascents, nearly always alone, but occasionally accompanied by the Marquis d'Arlandes, a brave soldier and one who had faith in Pilatre's ideas. The balloon was always held captive by strong cords.

Whenever he went up there was a crowd to watch him. One day there was a thrilling moment. The balloon drifted toward some high trees, and it seemed inevitable that the tissues would be torn by the branches and Pilatre dashed to the ground. They saw the young man calmly throw a bunch of straw on his fire and quickly pour over it two small bottles of oil. Instantly the fierce heat sent the balloon up safely, and it swept beyond the danger line of the trees. A mighty shout went up from the crowd, and when he came down Pilatre had an ovation.

He now felt ready to make his grand experimental trial trip, but the king would not allow him to go, as he feared to lose so brave and scientific a man. Pilatre was in despair, and at length the king said that he would give him the opportunity to test the safety of his balloon in the following way: He would give full pardon to any two criminals, who were willing to go up in it, provided Pilatre did not himself go.

The scientist was very angry. He said: "What! Shall vile criminals, foul murderers, men rejected from the bosom of society, have the glory of being the first to navigate the air? Never while Pilatre de Rozier draws breath!"

After repeated prayers for permission to make his experiment he appealed to the influence of the Duchess de Polignac, the governess of the royal children. To her petitions the Marquis d'Arlandes added his and asked to be allowed to accompany Pilatre. At length consent was obtained.

On Nov. 21, 1783, Pilatre and the marquis made an ascent from the gardens of the Chateau de la Muette, in the Bois. They sailed safely across the Seine, over the Hospital for Old Soldiers, over the Military school and landed about five miles from Paris. Their return was greeted with wild enthusiasm.

The marquis rode back, but Pilatre had to go first to his house and get a coat, for some one had stolen his in the mixup of their coming down, when the balloon, of course, collapsed.

Pilatre now announced that he would cross the channel from Boulogne to England. A wealthy Frenchman advanced the money to construct an improved machine that he was certain could stay in the air as long as necessary. This new invention was a balloon filled with hydrogen gas. Under it was a cylinder by which he expected to rarefy the air contained in it so that he could either ascend or descend easily and so reach currents of air that would take him in any desired direction.

It was five months before there came a day suitable for making the aerial trip. A physician who loved adventure and believed in the success of the experiment went with him from Boulogne.

They got the cords that held the balloon at 4 o'clock in the morning. The sunrise was majestic, and when at a height of 200 feet the balloon swept into a current of air that took it toward the channel. Suddenly a cross current swept it back.

Pilatre hastened to let some cold air into the cylinder and in some way made a rest in the balloon. They were 1,700 feet high, and instantly they were dashed to the earth, mangled and crushed frightfully.

France still remembers his enthusiastic faith in his scientific efforts, and in many places are memorials and inscriptions that perpetuate his fame.—Boston Globe.

Some Curious Weathercocks.

The weathercock had its origin at a very early date. Marcus Vitruvius Pollio, a noted Roman architect and engineer, who was born about 80 B. C., in his works calls a vase a triton, probably because in his time it had the form of a triton. The usual form on towers, castles and secular buildings was that of a banner, but on ecclesiastical buildings it was a representation of the male of the barnyard fowl.

There have been other forms of vase. The one over St. Peter's, Cornhill, London, is in the shape of a key; that over St. Mildred's church is a gilt ship under full sail. The grasshopper of the Royal Exchange, London, is the vase that formerly surmounted the former exchange. The dragon on the spire of Bow church, Cheapside, is another celebrated vase. One of Mother Shipton's prophecies was that when the dragon of Bow church and the grasshopper of the Royal Exchange should meet the streets of London would be deluged with blood. In what way they should meet the old dame did not explain, but it is known that at one time these two vases were side by side in the yard of a stonemason in Old Street road, yet there was no shedding of blood.—London Answers.

Foot and the Lawyers.

Being on an excursion into his native country, Samuel Foote happened to meet with a simple minded farmer, who, having just buried a rich relation, who was an attorney, was full of complaints about the great expense of a country funeral. Instancing the amount he had spent on scarfs, hats, bands, carriages, etc.

"Why," asked Foote, "do you mean to say that you bury your attorneys in this part of the country?"

"To be sure," said the puzzled farmer. "What else should we do?"

"Oh, we never do that in London."

"Really! What, then, do you do with them?"

"Why, when one happens to die we lay him out in a room by himself overnight, lock the door, open the window, and in the morning he is gone."

"Extraordinary!" cried the other in amazement. "What becomes of him?"

"Oh, that we can't exactly tell," replied Foote solemnly. "All we know is there's a strong smell of brimstone in the rooms the next morning."—Wits, Beaux and Beauties of the Georgian Era.

The Breches Bible.

One of the books which a bibliophile handles reverently is the famous Geneva Bible, better known as the "Breches Bible." This name is due to the rendering of Genesis 3:7, where Adam and Eve are said to have used fig tree leaves together and made themselves breeches. This had been the reading of the first English Bible, Wycliffe's version, but later translators had substituted the word "apron" for "breeches" and the Geneva Bible reverted to the original. The fact that only one edition of the Geneva version contained this sentence makes the limited number more precious to the book gatherer. The title page of this edition announces that it was "imprinted at London by the deputies of the queen's most excellent majestie" in 1560. The first edition appeared in 1562, and for sixty years this was the favorite Bible with the people, who reluctantly laid it aside for the authorized version in 1611.

THE RAT KING.

His Method Was Successful, but It Remained a Secret.

In the early sixties of the last century the Smithsonian Institution was infested with rats. Nothing in the building seemed to be rat proof. They ate skins cured with arsenical soap or table linen or the contents of Professor Henry's pantry without discrimination. Every one in the city, from Professor Henry to the bootblack, had one subject in common, and that was "rats."

As Professor Henry, who lived in the east end of the building, was listening to an account of the ruin wrought in his home during that day Professor Spencer Baird walked in and said, just as if he had been following every word of the family conversation, "I have just been told that there is a man in Philadelphia who can rid this place of rats."

Professor Henry's eyes expressed interest and incredulity at the same moment.

"I have his address here," went on the assistant secretary. "He calls himself the 'ratte konig' and won't take a cent if a rat remains and has."

"We'll send for him if it takes our last thousand cents to do it," said Professor Henry and laughingly predicted the repetition of the famous old tale of the Pied Piper of Hamelin.

Several days later the "rat king" appeared in Washington. He was almost as short as he was broad and wore clothes too loose for description; they had no shape. He carried a large oilcloth sack and a covered basket. His penetrating blue eyes were almost covered by shaggy eyebrows, and his blond hair had not been cut, but haggard. His manner was short and brisk, and he went straight to the point, talking to Professor Henry in German.

He declared that not a rat would be in the building three days hence if his directions were obeyed. During that time he would stay in the basement alone; every door was to be locked, and on no account was he to be disturbed until he gave them the signal. So they left him in absolute darkness and carried out his directions.

On Sunday morning the queer old man emerged from the darkness so confident of his success that he refused to accept the money which was his due then and there, but insisted that Professor Henry mail the check to him in Philadelphia the following week.

"Now you can leave your food in the basement, and it won't be touched. And I won't take a cent if you are troubled with rats," were his parting words.

Cheese and cake were directly placed about the building to tempt the rats. Morning after inciting they were found as they had been left, and from that day to this the Smithsonian Institution has never been seriously troubled with rats. And no one has ever found out the secret of the "rat king's" method.—Youth's Companion.

Washington's High Priced Shad.

Washington's steward was a man named Fraunces, who liked good living and with whom Washington continually quarreled about the marketing. One time he bought a shad in February, and as Washington saw it coming into the dining room he was charmed and asked what fish it was.

"It is a shad," replied the steward, "a very fine shad. It was the only one in the market, and I bought it for you."

"But what did you pay for it?" said Washington sternly.

"It is a very fine shad," continued the steward, "and it is cooked to a turn."

"But I want to know the price—the price!"

"It cost $3," stammered out Fraunces.

"Take it away," said Washington as he raised his hand; "take it away. It shall never be said that I set such an example of luxury and extravagance."

And with that he drove the steward out of the room, and the shad was eaten in the servants' kitchen.

Gainesville People Should Not Wait

The appalling death-rate from kidney disease is due in most cases to the fact that the little kidney troubles are usually neglected until they become serious. The slight symptoms give place to chronic disorders and the sufferer goes gradually into the grasp of diabetes, dropsy, Bright's Disease, gravel or some other serious form of kidney complaint.

If you suffer from backache, headaches, dizzy spells; if the kidney secretions are irregular of passage and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. Help the kidneys at once.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney disorders—they cure where others fail. Over one hundred thousand people have recommended them. Here's a case at home:

Mrs. A. H. Leonard, 204 E. Liberty street, Gainesville, Fla., says: "I feel hot from personal experience and that of several of my friends who have used Doan's Kidney Pills; I can endorse them very highly. Any person suffering from backache, headaches, chills, nervousness or any of the other symptoms arising from disordered kidneys, will make no mistake in giving Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. They always act quickly, cause no inconvenience and live up to the claim made for them."

"I thought it would be such fun, taking that six-days' journey in the cars," she sighed.

"Well, now, see here," said the young man. "If we take the flat, I looked at yesterday it'll be just the same as living in the parlor car state-room, except that the scenery won't change."—Youth's Companion.

The Book For Him.

There was a backward student at Raeford who for failure to pass an examination in Greek was "sent down." His mother went to see the master, Dr. Jowett, and explained to him what an excellent lad her son was. "It is a hard experience for him, this disgrace," said the old lady, "but he will have the consolation of religion, and there is always one book to which he can turn." Jowett eyed her a moment and then answered: "Yes, madam, the Greek grammar. Good morning."

Elevens Are In Fine Form and Very Exciting Game Is Confi-

The game of football to be pulled of great interest.

Florida boys are rapidly rounding shape under the careful guidance of Coach Pile.

Each pile expresses great confidence in his team at the present time, account of the rapidity of carrying out of the many plays. A large number of plays will be used against us that were not used in the game on account of the Rollins and Stetson coaches being on hand to get a line on the Florida team. Rumors come every now and then from Rollins College concerning strength on the gridiron this fall. It is generally known that if Florida has but two dozen men in the line, 20 of these are athletes, so has probably got some cards up his sleeve to flash in this game. It will probably be like all previous Rollins-Florida games—hotly contested from beginning to end. Florida has never been defeated at home, and is forward with confidence for another victory over Rollins. Arrangements will be made to keep the field full of spectators, thus insuring anyone of a good view of the game.
A good crowd should turn out and

Nature's Gift from the Sunny South

Lard Is An Animal Product Cottolene Is a Vegetable Product

Many people believe with Moses, the great law-giver, that the source of lard is unclean. The source of Cottolene is absolutely clean and wholesome, and the product is as healthful as olive oil.

Cottolene comes from the cotton fields of the Sunny South; it is a product of Nature, refined by our exclusive process. The ancestry of lard is not so clean or inviting. Lard never has been, never can be, anything more or less than unwholesome hog fat.

Cottolene makes food that any stomach can digest, while lard is the cause of nine-tenths of all indigestion.

Cottolene is the best frying and shortening medium made to-day. Wherever exhibited in competition with any and all other cooking fats, it has always been granted Highest Awards.

COTTOLENE is Guaranteed Your grocer is hereby authorized to refund your money in case you are not pleased, after having given Cottolene a fair test.

of the Atlantic Coast Line, Special Agents L. B. Bryan and Chas Pinkson, also of the Atlantic Coast Line, have received a check for $500, which amount

The delay has been caused by the claim of another party at Lakeland, who declared that he was responsible or the arrest and conviction of J. M.
Kelley and D. M. Davidson, the men convicted of the murder, or at least that it was through information furnished by him that the men were arrested and afterwards convicted.

Some time ago, since the conviction of Kelley and Davidson, this claim was received from the Lakeland party by the State authorities, which was the direct reason for holding the matter in abeyance, for it was necessary to notify the party to appear with proof to substantiate his claim. A time was appointed, but the Lakeland man did not put in an appearance, when it was ordered that a warrant be drawn in favor of Officers

Bryan and Pinkson.

receiving that which was conceded by those familiar with the case to be justly due them.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB.

Regular Monthly Meeting Was Highly Enjoyable Affair.

The Twentieth Century Club held its regular meeting on Monday, October 25th, in the spacious parlors of Mrs. J. L. Medlin's beautiful home on East Main street.

The business session was ably presided over by the president, Mrs. J.
M. Taylor, and several items of business were disposed of in accordance with the wishes of those present.

After the business was concluded the literary program was taken up under the direction of Mrs. S. M.
Davis as leader. The members present responded to the roll call with the name of an ancient Roman, and giving some interesting facts about him.

Mrs. W. M. Dale read an interesting story, "The Legend of Aeneas," which was greatly enjoyed by those fortunate enough to be present. Delightful instrumental music was furnished by Mrs. B. F. Hampton and Miss Hampton, which proved a delightful feature of the program. Mrs. L. C.
Gracy read a paper on "By-gone Days," which was declared by those present to be most interesting. Mrs.
L. C. Smith had prepared an exhaustive and instructive paper on "Modern Rome," but owing to the lateness of the hour the reading of this paper was deferred until the next meeting, so a great treat is in store for those who attend. The literary program was closed with a beautiful piano solo by Mrs. C. L. Crow, which was rendered with her usual brilliancy.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. C. A.
Colclough on Monday, November 8th, at 3 p. m. PRESS REPORTER.

The chestnut season and the vaudeville season arrive about the same time.

Mr. Charles W. Morse doesn't fancy the new fall styles in Government stripes.

The Eskimo name for Peary is Peuk, which must be all right, as it sounds so much like peanut.

"Why are there so many divorcees?" asks The New York World. Why, it's because married people fuss so much.

If Mr. Taft really sends all his promised recommendations to the next Congress the last raise in salary for our overworked legislators would be almost justified.

President Taft is an Ohio man, but when he told the Californians that he would favor a Pacific fleet if they could assure him that the next war would come from that side, he talked like a Missouri man.

Duval county has voted one million dollars bonds for good roads. It now remains to be seen whether the money will be spent for the purpose for which it was voted, or go into the pockets of a lot of grafters, as is alleged to have been the case in Hillsborough county.

General Charles Grosvenor, of Athens, being interviewed on the chances of defeating Governor Gilchrist, Democrat, of Ohio, agrees that it will be a hard job and that Ex-Senator Foraker would not be equal to the task, but he carefully evaded the reporter's question as to whether he intended to become a candidate.

The Starke Telegraph wants Governor Gilchrist to come right out and say what he thinks about the drainage of the Everglades. The Sun seconds the motion. If the work will eventually be a success, in the opinion of the Governor, let it be continued, but if it is simply being continued for the benefit of a few land speculators it is high time to put a stop to it.

The old idea that the first man was cursed in being compelled to work, and that, in consequence all work is a drudgery, fit only for mortals, is happily out-grown. We now recognize the dignity of labor and how that through it, and through it alone, all progress is made. Work, in fact, rests upon the principle that whatever may be the present condition of things that condition can be improved by labor.

It sometimes costs too much to get rich. There are other things more valuable than money and other things other things are sacrificed for the sake of money the price paid is too high. In the loss of wealth men not only lose all sympathy with and consideration for others and also lose all interest in public affairs except as they financially affect them. When all this is allowed to go on unchecked, the soul shrivels up and becomes as hard and metallic as the coin itself after it has been stamped.

CHEAP ROAD-BUILDERS.

Whether you vote bonds or get money by any other method, says The Progressive Farmer, you should by all means get a man who is both competent and trustworthy to spend it. When there is $100,000 in money to be spent it is a great deal better to pay a good man $5,000 and get a full $190,000 worth of good roads than it is to pay an incompetent man $2,000 and get only $70,000 or $80,000 worth of roads. In the first case you are out $3,000 for your man, but you have saved $20,000 or $30,000 that would have been lost by lack of intelligent management on the part of the "cheap" man. In an address the other day Mr. W. L. Spohn cited two instances showing how two counties have handled the road proposition, as follows:

Bradley county, Tennessee, voted bonds, got an engineer to go all over the county, and put the money where it ought to have gone. People were pleased. They voted more bonds, property increased wonderfully, until now the county, by reason of good roads, has grown to be a giant in wealth. The other instance was Lilliston, Ala., where the people voted $125,000. They didn't get an engineer, but listened to the road machinery agent who told them all they had to do was to round up the soil and roll it. Today that community is just as much as ever in the mud, and the roads that cost $125,000 get up and go along with the wheels when they roll."

A CHANGE OF BASE.

Experience and changed conditions inevitably result in some change of political and economic ideals. Today with our collectivism we are well-nigh at the antipodes of the old-time individualism. Methods once regarded as revolutionary are now commonly accepted. It is not alone in our own country this change is seen, it is just as true of other lands.

In England many leaders of the Conservative party, which naturally oppose popular government, are now advocating the referendum on the present budget. They are doing this not because they love the principle, but as the lesser of, to them, two evils. They know that to reject the budget would produce a constitutional crisis which would probably result in the extinction of the House of Lords. On the other hand, they hate the budget, therefore they see in a referendum a possible way out of difficulty.

But if the precedent of a referendum is once established what is there to hinder one on the ending or mending of the Lords? To approve a referendum in order to dodge the budget would probably be a jumping from the frying pan into the fire.

Civic patriotism is not so pronounced or so common as national patriotism, yet without it no place can prosper. Every citizen should be loyal to his town, and that loyalty should be expressed by acts as well as words. Words are cheap, and are not to be compared with the useful patriotic acts by which a man shows his faith and interest in the community of which he is a part. Such acts build up a town, promote its prosperity and make safe its future. And there is no citizen however humble or however lowly his occupation but can contribute something to the common good.

Judge Magoun says he suffered from emul while in Paris. Perhaps he did not have the right kind of guide.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured with local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

BLUNDER OR CRIME.

Napoleon said that a blunder was worse than a crime. Viewed by results, that is oftentimes true. Just now it looks as if Spain had made the worst kind of a blunder in shooting Prof. Ferrers, and the results are not unlikely to prove disastrous. Of course we cannot tell how far, if at all, Ferrers was to blame, but when Spanish history is considered it is probable he had good grounds for his learned and able scholar of upright life is conceded.

Anyway Spain would have stood better in the eyes of the world, and her internal affairs would have profited, if a lighter penalty had been imposed. As it is the old Spanish cruelty and reactionism have triumphed. As for Ferrers, he will be regarded as a martyr by millions of his countrymen and others, and martyrs have a wonderful knack, dead though they may be, of exerting a mighty influence. The Spanish King and government may think themselves lucky if they are not swept away by the whirlwind.

PRIVATE JOHN'S OFFICE.

"When I first decided to allow the people of Tupelo to use my name as a candidate for Congress I went out to a neighboring parish to speak," said Private John Allen to some friends at the old Metropolitan Hotel in Washington recently.

"An old darkey came up to greet me after the meeting. 'Marse Allen,' he said. 'I'm powerful glad to see you. I'se known ob you sense you wuz a baby. Knew yoh pappy long befo' you—all wuz bohn, too. He used ter hold de same office you got now. I members how he held dat same office fo' years an' years.'

"What office do you mean, uncle," I asked, as I never knew pop held any office.

"Why, de office of candidate, Marse John; yoh pappy was candidate fo' many yeahs." —From Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

State Chemist Rose says the reports about Lake Miccosukee going dry have been greatly exaggerated. The lake is lower, but still contains an abundance of pure water.

NOW ON STRIKE.

Millions of Stomachs Refuse to Do Their Work Properly.

All over this broad land millions of stomach owners are being held in humiliating subjection just because they are so stubborn that they will not accept a fair, square and broad minded offer.

Life is short for all of us; it will be shorter for those who let their stomachs go from bad to worse.

J. W. McCollum & Co. have a famous prescription called Mi-o-na and they believe so thoroughly in its remarkable curative power that they say to every owner of a distressed stomach that they will guarantee Mi-o-na tablets to cure acute or chronic indigestion and all stomach ailments or money back, and the price is only 50 cents a box.

And still there are stubborn people right in Gainesville who won't accept this offer but continue to suffer from gas on stomach, belching of sour food, stomach pains, foul breath, dizziness, biliousness and headaches just because—just because—that's all there is no other reason.

Mi-o-na tablets stop dyspepsia agony in five minutes; they cure obstinate cases of indigestion and turn the old stomach into a new one in a few weeks—or money back.

GAINESVILLE,

University City.

Gainesville is conceded to be the most enterprising as well as the most beautiful city in the interior of Florida. It is located in the very center of the State, half way between the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, surrounded by lands of such fertility as to be capable of producing a great variety of crops in the heart of the truck-growing phosphate and naval stores belt. She has the best educational advantages in the State, good churches, with edifices which are superior to any town of its size in Florida, with large and consistent congregations; has a climate which cannot be exceeded for health and pleasure. All these natural advantages, combined with a progressive and enterprising cosmopolitan citizenship, are sure to make a big city.

There are many natural attractions in close proximity to the city, some of which are Alachua Sink, Paine's Prairie, the Devil's Mill Hopper, Warren's Cave, and Lake Newnan, all of which are reached by private conveyance.

Spring Park Stock Farm, the largest and finest live stock farm in the State, is only eight miles west of the city, and is reached by a good hard road affording a most pleasant drive.

The farmers of Alachua county, of which Gainesville is the county seat "live at home and board at the same place." The temperature is very uniform, scarcely ever reaching the nineties in summer or the twenties in winter. The population of Gainesville is about eight thousand, representing nearly every nationality on the face of the earth, and strangers always meet with a hearty welcome.

The University of Florida for young men and the National Agricultural Experiment Station are located within the corporate limits of the city. In fact, Gainesville has so many things that we must be pardoned if we omit a few of them in the following enumeration of what

ABOUT ADVERTISING—NO. 8

The Cellar Hole and the Sewer Hole

By Herbert Kaufman.

A coal cart stopped before an office building in Washington and the driver dismounted, removed the cover from a manhole, ran out his chute, and proceeded to empty the load. An old negro strolled over and stood watching him. Suddenly the black man glanced down and immediately burst into a fit of uncontrollable laughter, which continued for several minutes. The cart driver looked at him in amusement. "Say, Uncle," he asked, "do you always laugh when you see coal going into a cellar?" The negro sputtered around for a few moments and then holding his hands to his aching sides managed to say, "No, sah, but I jest busts when I sees it goin' down a sewer."

The advertiser who displays lack of judgment in selecting the newspapers which carry his copy often confuses the sewer and the cellar.

All the money that is put into newspapers isn't taken out again by any means. The fact that all papers possess a certain physical likeness doesn't by any means signify a similarity in character, and it's character in a newspaper that brings returns. The editor who conducts a journalistic sewer finds a different class of readers than the publisher who respects himself enough to respect his readers.

What goes into a newspaper largely determines the class of homes into which the newspaper goes. An irresponsible, scandal-mongering, muck-raking sheet is logically not supported by the buying classes of people. It may be perused by thousands of readers, but such readers are seldom purchasers of advertised goods.

It's the clean-cut, steady, normal-minded citizens who form the bone and sinew and muscle of the community. It's the same, self-respecting, dependable newspaper that enters their homes and it's the home sale that indicates the strength of an advertising medium.

No clean-minded father of a family wishes to have his wife and children brought in contact with the most maudlin and banal phases of life. He defends them from the sensational editor and the unpleasant advertiser. He subscribes to a newspaper which he does not fear to leave about the house.

Therefore, the respectable newspaper can always be counted upon to produce more sales than one which may even own a larger circulation but whose distribution is in ten editions among unprofitable citizens.

You can no more expect to sell goods to people who haven't money than you can hope to pluck oysters from bushes.

It isn't the number of readers reached but the number of readers whose purses can be reached that constitutes the value of circulation. It's one thing to arouse their attention, but it's a far different thing to get their money. The mind may be willing, but the pocketbook is weak.

If you had the choice of a thousand acres of desert land or a hundred acres of ooris, you'd select the fertile spot, realizing that the larger tract had less value because it would be less productive.

Just so the advertiser who really understands how he is spending his money does not measure by bulk alone. He counts productivity first. He takes care that he is not putting his money into a sewer.

The chestnut season and the vaudeville season arrive about the same time.

Mr. Charles W. Morse doesn't fancy the new fall styles in Government stripes.

The Eskimo name for Peary is Pe-uk, which must be all right, as it sounds so much like peanut.

"Why are there so many divorces?" asks The New York World. Why, it's because married people fuss so much.

If Mr. Taft really sends all his promised recommendations to the next Congress the last raise in salary for our overworked legislators would be almost justified.

President Taft is an Ohio man, but when he told the Californians that he would favor a Pacific fleet if they could assure him that the next war would come from that side, he talked like a Missouri man.

Duval county has voted one million dollars bonds for good roads. It now remains to be seen whether the money will be spent for the purpose for which it was voted, or go into the pockets of a lot of grafters, as is alleged to have been the case in Hillsborough county.

General Charles Grosvenor, of Athens, being interviewed on the chances of defeating Governor Harmon, Democrat, of Ohio, agrees that it will be a hard job and that Ex-Senator Foraker would not be equal to the task, but he carefully evaded the reporter's question as to whether he intended to become a candidate.

The Starke Telegraph wants Governor Gilchrist to come right out and say what he thinks about the drainage of the Everglades. The Sun seconds the motion. If the work will eventually be a success, in the opinion of the Governor, let it be continued, but if it is simply being continued for the benefit of a few land speculators it is high time to put a stop to it.

The old idea that the first man was cursed in being compelled to work, and that in consequence all work is a drudgery, fit only for menials, is happily out-grown. We now recognize the dignity of labor and how that through it, and through it alone, all progress is made. Work, in fact, rests upon the principle that whatever may be the present condition of things that condition can be improved by labor.

It sometimes costs too much to get rich. There are other things more valuable than money and when those other things are sacrificed for the sake of money the price paid is too high. In the lust for wealth men often lose all sympathy with and consideration for others and also lose all interest in public affairs except as they financially affect them. When all this is allowed to go on unchecked the soul shrivels up and becomes as hard and metallic as the coin itself after which men grasp.

CHEAP ROAD-BUILDERS.

Whether you vote bonds or get money by any other method, says The Progressive Farmer, you should by all means get a man who is both competent and trustworthy to spend it. When there is $100,000 in money to be spent it is a great deal better to pay a good man $5,000 and get a full $100,000 worth of good roads than it is to pay an incompetent man $2,000 and get only $70,000 or $80,000 worth of roads. In the first case you are out $3,000 for your man, but you have saved $20,000 or $30,000 that would have been lost by lack of intelligent management on the part of the "cheap" man. In an address the other day Mr. W. L. Spohn cited two instances showing how two counties have handled the road proposition, as follows:

"Bradley county, Tennessee, voted bonds, got an engineer to go all over the county, and put the money where it ought to have gone. People were pleased. They voted more bonds, property increased wonderfully, until now the county, by reason of good roads, has grown to be a giant in wealth. The other instance was Lillianston, Ala., where the people voted $125,000. They didn't get an engineer, but listened to the road machinery agent who told them all they had to do was to round up the soil and roll it. Today that community is just as much as ever in the mud, and the roads that cost $125,000 get up and go along with the wheels when they roll."

A CHANGE OF BASE.

Experience and changed conditions inevitably result in some change of political and economic ideals. Today with our collectivism we are well-nigh at the antipodes of the old-time individualism. Methods once regarded as revolutionary are now commonly accepted. It is not alone in our own country this change is seen, it is just as true of other lands.

"In England many leaders of the Conservative party, which naturally oppose popular government, are now advocating the referendum on the present budget. They are doing this not because they love the principle, but as the lesser of, to them, two evils. They know that to reject the budget would produce a constitutional crisis which would probably result in the extinction of the House of Lords. On the other hand, they hate the budget, therefore they see in a referendum a possible way out of difficulty.

But if the precedent of a referendum is once established what is there to hinder one on the ending or merging of the Lords? To approve a referendum in order to dodge the budget would probably be a jumping from the frying pan into the fire.

Civic patriotism is not so pronounced or so common as national patriotism, yet without it no place can prosper. Every citizen should be loyal to his town, and that loyalty should be expressed by acts as well as words. Words are cheap, and are not to be compared with the useful patriotic acts by which a man shows his faith and interest in the community of which he is a part. Such acts build up a town, promote its prosperity and make sure its future. And there is no citizen however humble or however lowly his occupation but can contribute something to the common good.

Judge Magoun says he suffered from emnui while in Paris. Perhaps he did not have the right kind of guide.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

with local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

BLUNDER OR CRIME.

Napoleon said that a blunder was worse than a crime. Viewed by results, that is oftentimes true. Just now it looks as if Spain had made the worst kind of a blunder in shooting Prof. Ferrers, and the results are not unlikely to prove disastrous. Of course we cannot tell how far, if at all, Ferrers was to blame, but when Spanish history is considered it is probable he had good grounds for his political attitude. That he was a learned and able scholar of upright life is conceded.

Anyway Spain would have stood better in the eyes of the world, and her internal affairs would have profited, if a lighter penalty had been imposed. As it is the old Spanish cruelty and reactionism have triumphed. As for Ferrers, he will be regarded as a martyr by millions of his countrymen and others, and martyrs have a wonderful knack, dead though they may be, of exerting a mighty influence. The Spanish King and government may think themselves lucky if they are not swept away by the whirlwind.

PRIVATE JOHN'S OFFICE.

"When I first decided to allow the people of Tupelo to use my name as a candidate for Congress I went out to a neighboring parish to speak," said Private John Allen to some friends at the old Metropolitan Hotel in Washington recently.

"An old darkey came up to greet me after the meeting," Marse Allen, he said. "I'm powerful glad to see you. I know ob you sences you wuz a baby. Knew yoh pappy long befo' you—all wuz bohn, too. He used ter hold de same office you got now. I members how he held dat same office fo' years an' years."

"What office do you mean, uncle?" I asked, as I never knew pop held any office.

"Why, de office of candidate, Marse John; yoh pappy was candidate fo' many yeahs." —From Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

State Chemist Rose says the reports about Lake Miccosukee going dry have been greatly exaggerated. The lake is lower, but still contains an abundance of pure water.

NOW ON STRIKE.

Millions of Stomachs Refuse to Do Their Work Properly.

All over this broad land millions of stomach owners are being held in humiliating subjection just because they are so stubborn that they will not accept a fair, square and broad minded offer.

Life is short for all of us; it will be shorter for those who let their stomachs go from bad to worse.

J. W. McCollum & Co. have a famous prescription called Mi-o-na and they believe so thoroughly in its remarkable curative power that they say to every owner of a distressed stomach that they will guarantee Mi-o-na tablets to cure acute or chronic indigestion and all stomach ailments or money back, and the price is only 50 cents a box.

And still there are stubborn people right in Gainesville who won't accept this offer but continue to suffer from gas on stomach, belching of sour food, stomach pains, foul breath, dizziness, biliousness and headaches just because—just because—that's all, there is no other reason.

Mi-o-na tablets stop dyspepsia agony in five minutes; they cure obstinate cases of indigestion and turn the old stomach into a new one in a few weeks—or money back.

GAINESVILLE,

University City.

Gainesville is conceded to be the most enterprising as well as the most beautiful city in the interior of Florida. It is located in the very center of the State, half way between the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, surrounded by lands of such fertility as to be capable of producing a great variety of crops in the heart of the truck-growing phosphate and naval stores belt. She has the best educational advantages in the State, good churches, with edifices which are superior to any town of its size in Florida, with large and consistent congregations; has climate which cannot be excelled for health and pleasure. All these natural advantages, combined with a progressive and enterprising cosmopolitan citizenship, are sure to make a big city.

There are many natural attractions in close proximity to the city, some of which are Alachua Sink, Pine's Prairie, the Devil's Mill Hopper, Warren's Cave, and Lake Newnan, all of which are reached by private conveyance.

Spring Park Stock Farm, the largest and finest live stock farm in the State is only eight miles west of the city, and is reached by a good hard road affording a most pleasant drive.

The farmers of Alachua county, of which Gainesville is the county seat "live at home and board at the same place." The temperature is very uniform, scarcely ever reaching the nineties in summer or the twenties in winter. The population of Gainesville is about eight thousand, representing nearly every nationality on the face of the earth, and strangers always meet with a hearty welcome.

The University of Florida for young men and the National Agricultural Experiment Station are located within the corporate limits of the city. In fact, Gainesville has so many things that we must be pardoned if we omit a few of them in the following enumeration of what

It you had the choice of a thousand acres of desert land or a hundred acres of oasis, you'd select the fertile spot, realizing that the larger tract had less value because it would be less productive.

Just so the advertiser who really understands how he is spending his money does not measure by bulk alone. He counts productivity first. He takes care that he is not putting his money into a sewer.

ABOUT ADVERTISING—NO. 8

The Cellar Hole and the Sewer Hole

By Herbert Kaufman.

A coal cart stopped before an office building in Washington and the driver dismounted, removed the cover from a manhole, ran out his chute, and proceeded to empty the load. An old negro strolled over and stood watching him. Suddenly the black man glanced down and immediately burst into a fit of uncontrollable laughter, which continued for several minutes. The cart driver looked at him in amusement. "Say, Uncle," he asked, "do you always laugh when you see coal going into a cellar?" The negro sputtered around for a few moments and then holding his hands to his aching sides managed to say, "No, sah, but I jest busts when I sees it goin' down a sewer."

The advertiser who displays lack of judgment in selecting the newspapers which carry his copy often confuses the sewer and the cellar.

All the money that is put into newspapers isn't taken out again by any means. The fact that all papers possess a certain physical likeness doesn't by any means signify a similarity in character, and it's character in a newspaper that brings returns. The editor who conducts a journalistic sewer finds a different class of readers than the publisher who respects himself enough to respect his readers.

What goes into a newspaper largely determines the class of homes into which the newspaper goes. An irresponsible, scandal-mongering, muck-raking sheet is logically not supported by the buying classes of people. It may be perused by thousands of readers, but such readers are seldom purchasers of advertised goods.

It's the clean-cut, steady, normal-minded citizens who form the bone and sinew and muscle of the community. It's the sane, self-respecting, dependable newspaper that enters their homes and it's the home sale that indicates the strength of an advertising medium.

No clean-minded father of a family wishes to have his wife and children brought in contact with the maudlin and banal phase of life. He defends them from the sensational editor and the unpleasant advertiser. He subscribes to a newspaper which he does not fear to leave about the house.

Therefore, the respectable newspaper can always be counted upon to produce more sales than one which may even own a larger circulation but whose distribution is in ten editions among unprofitable citizens.

You can no more expect to sell goods to people who haven't money than you can hope to pluck oysters from bushes.

It isn't the number of readers reached but the number of readers whose purses can be reached that constitutes the value of circulation. It's one thing to arouse their attention, but it's a far different thing to get their money. The mind may be willing, but the pocketbook is weak.

The machine will receive a thorough overhauling and repainting, after which it will be again placed in commission as bright and handsome as ever.
